Our terms:

We're happy you've visited our site. While you're here, there are some terms of use (terms) we need you to follow:

1. Your privacy is important to us. We have a privacy statement (which talks about what we do) and a privacy policy (which is our formal policy) and these form part of the terms. By accessing our site, you automatically accept our terms and all updates as they happen (if you prefer not to accept the terms, we'll kindly require that you leave the site).
2. Due to the nature of the internet and our digital age, we cannot guarantee that there won't be errors in recording, transcribing, storing, or transmitting information or in the operation of the site. This means that we are unable to warrant the accuracy, adequacy, timeliness (despite any apparent date stamping) and completeness of information on our site.
3. You access the site at your own risk and to the extent permitted by law – we are not liable to you or any third party for any damages, losses, or liabilities of any kind (whether as a result of negligence or otherwise and including consequential loss or damage) that occurs in connection with your use of the site and any information, material or functionality that forms part of it. If our site contains links to any third-party websites, please be aware that once you leave our site, we are not responsible for the content, security or privacy practices associated with any other site or any representations made.
4. We own the copyright in the site and its information. You may print (or PDF) a copy of information from our website for your personal use. However, you are not allowed to alter, reproduce, transmit or link, frame, cache or mirror any part of the site. Please don't link to our site from other websites.
5. In the event of a dispute arising in connection with the use of our website, the applicable law is that of the State of Victoria, Australia.
